

Washington State Interstate Guide

Welcome to Washington State

This guide to Washington's interstate highway system, when used in conjunction with the Official Washington State Highway Map, is designed to help you select the best route to your destination.

Exit numbers used in this guide run south to north and west to east, and correspond with the freeway's mileage from the southern/western starting point. This map is not in scale, but rather is representative of the area.

Included in this guide is information about exits, rest areas, state parks, visitor information centers, bicycles and highways and points of interest located near the interstate highway system.

Additional information about state highway services, ferries, aviation services, public transit and rail, and bicycling on interstate highways is available from the Public Affairs Office, Washington State Department of Transportation, Transportation Building, KF-01, Olympia, Washington 98504, Telephone (206) 753-2150.
